Planning the move

- Moving date continually pushed back from February, finally moved in June
- Several Covid outbreaks shut construction down for weeks
- Office space is limited (especially after floods) and library rooms were constantly under threat of being taken over.
- Furniture, stationery and excess old editions of print books were donated to staff and print journals were donated or discarded in the final months before relocation.
- The building had not been officially handed over when we moved in.
