Audit tools are useful to provide an objective, systematic and data-driven insight into various aspects of the library's operations, helping identify areas for improvement and demonstrating compliance (your services adherence to external regulations and internal policies).
Stream 2	Workshop: Using adult learning principles to provide effective and innovative training on systematic searching – Erin Roga, Federation University This workshop will demonstrate one of the sessions run by Federation University Library, with participants experiencing the activities used to teach systematic searching methods. The value and challenges of the teaching methods will be discussed, with participants reflecting on how they could be applied in similar training within their own context. This workshop is aimed at librarians and information professionals who provide training on systematic reviews.
12.15pm – 1.15pm	Lunch
1.15 pm -2.30 pm
Stream 1	Workshop: Hidden in plain sight: caring for others and ourselves – Lori Korodaj and Colin Sweett, Canberra Health Services Health and hospital libraries offer a range of services that support our clients and save them time as busy clinicians, as well as offering a safe "third space" between the impact of their clinical work and home life. While these services and spaces protect our clients, this can sometimes come at the cost of library staff wellbeing and workload.
Stream 2	Workshop: Enhancing systematic review workflows using automation tools – Stan Earnshaw, Gold Coast Hospital

	This workshop will show participants how to use TERA and how it fits into review workflows to improve the speed and quality of conducting systematic reviews.
